SOHO MEWS

There are two sides to Soho, and through floor-to-ceiling windows, this 67-unit condominium sees both. One side of Soho Mews—which is actually two buildings connected by a private garden—faces the restaurants and shops of bustling West Broadway, and the other is enmeshed in the cobblestones and art galleries of quaint Wooster Street. Penthouses, like the one snapped up by Justin Timberlake, have wraparound terraces that see all the action. 377 West Broadway, 212-226-0020; sohomews.com
